

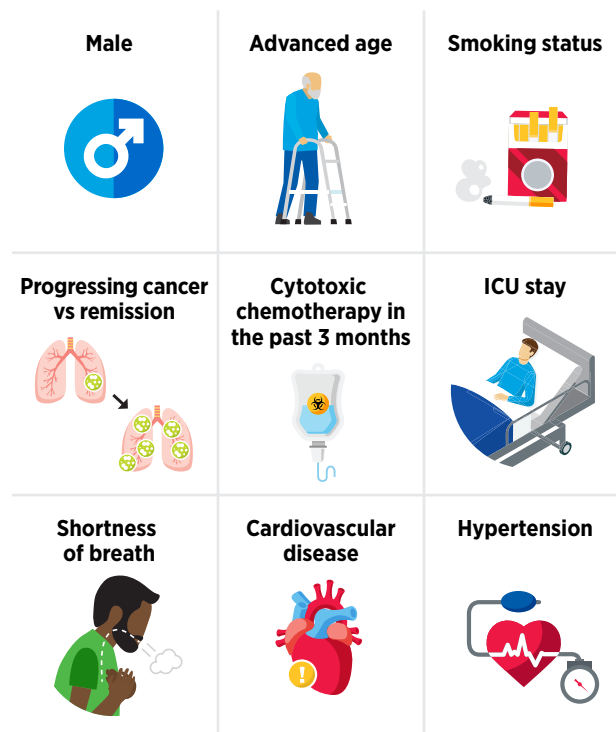

FIGURE 5 DETERMINANTS OF MORTALITY IN PATIENTS WITH CANCER AND COVID-19

Multiple studies have identified key risk factors for mortality in patients with cancer and COVID-19. These include male sex and advanced age of the patient, history of smoking, stage of cancer, recent history of anticancer treatment, pulmonary disorders such as chronic obstructive pulmonary disease and dyspnea (shortness of breath), cardiovascular diseases, and hypertension.

ICU: intensive care unit