

Driving Progress against Cancer Health Disparities Together

Progress in reducing cancer health disparities occurs when all stakeholders committed to achieving this goal work together. Further increasing collaboration will accelerate the pace of progress in the future. The key stakeholders are:

patients, survivors, and their caregivers, family members, and friends;

health care providers;

academic and government researchers from a diverse array of specialties;

biotechnology, pharmaceutical, diagnostics, and medical device companies;

individual citizen advocates and members of advocacy groups;

policy makers;

regulators;

philanthropic organizations, cancer research organizations and cancer-focused foundations;

federal funding organizations; and payers.
